

FIELD SCHOOL COURSE AT UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA DULUTH IN SUMMER 2022

WHAT: ANTH 4696, Field Research in Archaeology, University of Minnesota Duluth

CONTACT: Susan Mulholland, smulholl@d.umn.edu or suemulholland@aol.com, 218-355-0153

WHEN: July 5 – August 19, 2022

APPLICATIONS DUE: May 1, 2022

ANTH 4696, Field Research in Archaeology, is a 6 week/6 credit course held between July 5 and August 19, 2022 (one week is a break). The course offers a week of classroom lectures/demonstrations (July 5-8) and a week of lab work (August 15-19). Four weeks of field work include survey (walkover and shovel testing) and excavation, focusing on a pre-Contact site (or series of sites) north of Duluth but historic site information will also be incorporated as possible. Call or email for more information.

APPLICATIONS: email or call Sue Mulholland [as soon as possible!] for an application form

OR visit University of Minnesota Duluth – College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences - Anthropology webpage at

<https://cahss.d.umn.edu/departments/studies-justice-culture-social-change/anthropology>